

PP Møbler

PP995 THE ORDRUPGAARD BENCH

This bench in solid ash was designed by the Iraqi born architect, Zaha Hadid in 2005, as part of the interior of the annex she designed for Ordrupgaard Museum in Charlottenlund just north of Copenhagen. The bench became part of PP Møbler's collection in the spring 2006.

PP Møbler has made ten pieces of the bench with four benches in the museum and one bench sold privately. The last five benches were used at the COP15 conference in Copenhagen in December 2009. Of those five benches from COP15, one was given to a WWF charity auction, where the participants at COP15 had signed the bench. The remaining four benches from COP15 have been sold to interested buyers/collectors. The bench will not be made anymore.

Design by Zaha Hadid 2005

Lineart

